Breathe, Screen, Live.

Executive Summary

Aliento Medical is a health technology and clinical practice delivering evidence-based employee wellness screening and patient-adapted behavioural lifestyle interventions. Founded by Dr. Leegale Adonis, a public health PhD with deep expertise in preventative medicine and workplace wellness, Aliento bridges the critical gap between screening and sustained health behaviour change.

Our Value Proposition

We provide a complete, scalable employee wellness solution — from on-site screening through personalised intervention to structured onward referral — for R500 per employee per year. No hidden fees. No lock-in contracts.

Target Market

South Africa's largest retail and franchise groups: Shoprite, Pick n Pay, Game, Makro, and the Foschini Group. These organisations employ hundreds of thousands of staff across the country and face significant productivity losses from preventable chronic disease.

The Opportunity

- 64% of deaths in South Africa are caused by non-communicable diseases — largely preventable through early detection and lifestyle intervention.
- Less than 20% of South African employees undergo regular preventative health screening.
- Workplace wellness programmes deliver an average 3.5x ROI through reduced absenteeism, presenteeism, and healthcare costs.
- Dr. Adonis's PhD research found 87% of retail employees had at least one undiagnosed risk factor.

Business Model

Per-employee-per-year pricing (R500) with bulk discounts for 500+ employees. Revenue scales linearly with covered lives. Low overhead — screening is on-site, reports are digital, interventions are group and individual.

The Problem

The Burden of Preventable Disease

South Africa faces a quadruple burden of disease, with non-communicable diseases (NCDs) accounting for the majority of deaths. Hypertension, diabetes, obesity, and cardiovascular disease are rampant — yet largely undiagnosed in working-age populations.

The Screening Gap

Despite the availability of effective screening tools, uptake remains critically low. Barriers include:

- Access — Employees cannot easily attend clinics during work hours
- Awareness — Many do not perceive themselves as at risk
- Cost — Private screening is expensive and not always covered by medical aid
- Follow-through — Even when screened, few receive structured support to change behaviour

The Cost to Employers

Poor employee health directly impacts the bottom line:

- R42 billion+ in annual productivity loss from employee illness in South Africa
- 15-20% of payroll lost to absenteeism and presenteeism (unplanned absence)
- Healthy employees are 2.5x more productive and 40% less likely to leave

The gap is clear: Employers need a turnkey screening solution that drives real behaviour change, at a price that makes sense at scale.

The Aliento Solution

Three-Pillar Approach

01 | Screen

Comprehensive on-site health screening conducted at your premises. Measures include blood pressure, blood glucose, cholesterol, BMI, waist circumference, and health risk assessment questionnaire.

02 | Intervene

Each employee receives a confidential personal health report with a patient-adapted behavioural lifestyle intervention plan — tailored to their specific results, readiness to change, and personal goals.

03 | Refer

Employees requiring further care are referred through a structured onward pathway to a partner pharmacy group and a multi-disciplinary team of healthcare professionals.

What's Included (R500/employee/year)

- Comprehensive on-site health screening
- Confidential individual digital health reports
- Patient-adapted behavioural lifestyle intervention programme
- Group wellness workshops (quarterly)
- Structured onward referral pathway to pharmacy + specialists
- Multi-disciplinary team coordination
- Annual follow-up screening and progress tracking
- Employer dashboard with de-identified aggregate outcomes
